PLANNING COMMISSION WORK SESSION

The Planning Commission met in a Work Session to discuss the following topic:

- Housing Needs Assessment and Housing Production Strategy Update, presented by Don Hardy, Planning Director.

Director Hardy gave an overview of the Housing Needs Assessment (HNA) and the Housing Production Strategy (HPS). He presented a population growth forecast, and median family income and housing affordability rates/data. Further data regarding median home prices in selected markets was presented. Hardy moved on to explain what the housing affordability measures would represent and discussed severe rent burden. Hardy presented projected housing demands based on Canby incomes, with a need of approximately 2,300 additional units/dwellings. The future adoption process for the HNA was shared along with the three land efficiency measure strategies that the City intends to pursue. Further discussion between Hardy and the Commissioner took place with questions asked regarding the process, timeline, and other options for efficiency measures.

Commissioner Driskill brought up concerns regarding housing and how income will affect what types of housing the City will be required to adopt if the UGB is expanded. A lack of zones was also mentioned by Commissioner Lewelling to which Hardy agreed that only having three residential zones makes things slightly more difficult when connected to affordability. Discussion continued and some commissioners asked for further research and data regarding income, zoning, and adoption timelines.
